Golf Club Managers Association

The Golf Club Managers' Association is proud to be an early signatory to The R&A's Women In Golf Charter.

The men and women we support in management and leadership positions around all regions of the UK and abroad are passionate about the development and future of the game. We recognise that to support our members, and ensure the successful management of golf clubs, we need to strive towards sustainable gender diversity within the organisation, and amongst our membership.

As well as being an early signatory to the Charter we are pleased to be providing specific support for the female members of our association and women in the industry by;

- Creating a collaborative and cross industry network - the GCMA Women's Golf Leadership Group
- Establishing a Women In Leadership programme as a key initiative for developing a platform for female leaders in golf club management
- Appointing at least one female director to the association's board of directors in 2018, and looking to increase this over the next two years
- Developing a programme to raise awareness among the golf club community about the unconscious bias and differences that women working in golf face every day.
