Women in Golf Charter

Prague, 2018 November 20th

The Czech Golf Federation (CGF), intending to foster the growth of golf here in the coming years, hereby accepts the appeal of R&A by means of the Women in Golf Charter.

The ratio of males to females on the Czech golf market is an unbalanced 7:3. Therefore, the CGF sees strengthening the development of golf among girls and women as a key parameter in achieving the goal of growing the golf base.

The CGF has already taken important steps in previous years that are right in line with the Women in Golf Charter:

- Across the organisational structure, women hold the following important positions:
 - Member of the Committee and Treasury of CGF
 - Deputy General Secretary
- Since 2017 it has supported the worldwide event Women's Golf Day
- Since 2017 it has been the promoter of the tournament Let Access Series in the Czech Republic.

As signatories to the Charter, we hereby undertake:

- To actively increase engagement of women in management and structures of the CGF.
- To continue supporting the event Women's Golf Day, to deepen the notion of the event itself and expand its impacts on society.
- Through media support, to motivate women to play golf. In co-operation with golf clubs and courses, to create conditions for engaging new players.
- To address girls at an early age in order to introduce them to golf as an appropriate counterpart to male-dominated sports. In co-operation with schools, to engage in the physical and social development that golf offers.
- To create opportunities for high-performance players to further develop and refine their golf game with the aim of promoting their life stories which they will have achieved thanks to a golf career.

We are dedicated to achieving our expressed aims, and side by side with R&A, to taking part in further dissemination of the values of golf.

Zdeněk Kodejš
President of the CGF
